ENGLISH PRESS PLEASED WITH BENNETT PLAN

Declares Canadian Premier Believes in Putting Cards on Table

LONDON, July 22.—The entire English press, giving great prominence today to the Imperial Conference at Ottawa, was unanimous in recognition of the auspicious start that has been made at the same time that the great newspapers pointed out no judgment was possible until the conference has got down to concrete proposals.

"Premier Bennett believes in putting the cards on the table at once," said the Manchester Guardian. "The hand he has put down is at least as good as any other, and Mr. Bennett is to be commended for his candor."

"The Morning Post" considers Premier Bennett's speech distinguished by frankness, courage and enthusiasm—as the standard of statesmanship which the Canadian people have given was the fundamentally exclusive policy of the last Imperial Conference.

"Perhaps the most cheering news was that Mr. Bennett's speech was so warmly received by the British press," said the Manchester Guardian. "It remains to be seen whether Mr. Bennett in reality has given away the Canadian Premier's declarations at the end of the last Imperial Conference."

"The Daily Mail" considered the day's proceedings showed the franchise, diversity and helpfulness which had been confidently anticipated in the measure. "Mr. Bennett's speech," said the Daily Mail, "was a masterpiece of statesmanship, and his speech was described as the finest yet given."

Farmers Now Use Butter To Grease Axles

MAGRATH, Alta., July 22.—Some farmers in this district are using butter to lard to grease farm machinery. Standard axle grease costs 10 cents a pound, while butter is valued at ten and half at nine cents a pound. The butter is found to be the substitutes fairly satisfactory.

BERLIN CHIEF OF POLICE IS PUT IN JAIL

Contravention of Martial Law Act Charged to Official

BERLIN, July 22.—Hugo Hinrichsen, chief of the Berlin police, was taken out of bed at five o'clock this morning by a squad of soldiers and taken to the police station on suspicion of contravention of the martial law act.

A major of police and a member of the Reichswehr whose name is withheld, were arrested with him. Hinrichsen, one of the most prominent members of the police force, was arrested on Wednesday, along with Albert Krieger, commander of the Berlin police, on the charge of contravention of the martial law act.

DELEGATES AT OTTAWA GIVEN BIG RECEPTION

Setting of Rare Beauty Is Afforded Overseas Representatives

OTTAWA, July 22.—While hundreds of candles blazed on bright green tablecloths, Mr. H. B. Bennett, Prime Minister of Canada, last night welcomed once again the delegates to the first Dominion Conference. In a setting of rare beauty, nearly seven hundred distinguished guests from all parts of the British Empire joined in good fellowship. It was the first government dinner, and Canada gave of her best.

The scene was one which impressed itself upon the memory. Green was the prevailing color. Along the side of the great dining room the tables were covered with its green cloths, and the walls were decorated with its green drapery. The tables were set with its green cloths, and the walls were decorated with its green drapery.

Action Taken Without Using Specific Word— Irish Accept

OTTAWA, July 22.—Delegates to the Imperial Conference yesterday passed a resolution of loyalty to the King without specifically mentioning the word "loyalty."

Officials here denied the word had been deleted to meet the wishes of the Irish Free State representatives. The resolution was accepted by all delegates.

The resolution sponsored by Premier R. B. Bennett, of Canada, and Sir Asquith, of India, read as follows:—

"The representatives of the governments of the British Commonwealth assembled in conference at Ottawa, at their first meeting and as their first official act, desire to express their loyalty to the King and to thank him for his gracious message which has just been received by His Excellency the Governor General. They join in thanking the King and the Queen for their long and earnest hope that the Commonwealth of Nations will be able to stand united and strong."

Strangers No More Where Else Could This Ever Happen?

OTTAWA, July 22.—There is no other nation but the British nation where a humble citizen could rise to the position which I have the honor to hold."

This remark came from Mr. H. B. Bennett, British secretary for the dominions at the state dinner last night. He was replying to a special toast proposed to him by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett. Mr. Bennett had recalled to the Imperial delegates and guests an incident of the patriotism of Mr. Thomas exhibited at the time of the formation of the National government in Great Britain in the hour of crisis.

WHAT PRICE A WHEAT PREFERENCE?

The Government of Alberta has joined the Government of Manitoba in representing to the Dominion Government that a preferential tariff on wheat produced in the Empire would be of more value to Canadian producers than the admission of a fixed "quota" of Empire wheat into the British market.

That appears to be the consensus of opinion among those in Western Canada who are qualified to judge. As Canada's export wheat is grown in the west, and the "quota" does not seem to be a very large one, British millers and farmers, it is to be supposed the Dominion Government will urge for a preferential tariff instead, and that it may be granted—if any kind of preference is given to Empire wheat.

There has been rather a disposition in Canada to take for granted that Britain will, in one way or another, support a proposition of Empire wheat for the benefit of the Dominions. Whether that happens or does not happen, must depend in large measure on what the Dominions have prepared to offer Britain in return for such a concession.

DEMOCRACY IN BRITAIN

Chile has changed governments two or three times in a month, without the formality of a general election. Revolutions under way in Peru, Cuba, Paraguay and Bolivia are quarrelling again about the Gran Chaco territory. And Brazil is in the throes of a revolution.

It is fortunate for the people of South America that these revolutions are not as themselves. That content is occupied, almost exclusively, by republics; and it has more political upheavals than any corresponding area of the earth's surface.

Quite likely there would be as many uprisings if the republics were all monarchies, but there might be fewer over-turnings. The content of the people, not the constitution of the countries, must account for the political dissatisfaction with whatever governments happen to be in power, and the habit of trying to readjust matters by force rather than by law.

Anglo-Saxons are disposed to think because parliamentary government works well in British countries, that it would work in some countries on the continent of Europe, that it would work everywhere. South America destroys that assumption.

A WORSE MISCALCULATION

Ontario has made an agreement with the Dominion by which that province undertakes to the cost of creating the power plants in the province which would be made possible by the construction of the St. Lawrence deep waterway. Since the cost is the direct benefit, and is apparently according to the arrangement, that part of the scheme is in every way commendable.

So far as Quebec is concerned, the plan stands rather different. The Government of Quebec has been consistently opposed to the project, on the ground that United States industries, provided with a new supply of cheap power, would be able to compete with the industries of Quebec. Premier Taschereau is appealing to the courts to prevent the Dominion putting through the scheme without Quebec's consent.

But, unless there was a miscalculation of $100,000,000 in the amount given out at Ottawa as the Dominion's share of carrying out the project, Quebec is to be asked to provide the cost of the river improvement, and the Dominion, that province. That evidently is the supposition on which the figures compiled at Ottawa are based.

Whoever evolved that brilliant idea deserves a medal. If Quebec is supposed to put up $250,000,000 toward the cost of a canal it doesn't want, the digging is not likely to start yet a while.

CANADA AND THE CONFERENCE

Canadians are of course quite as keenly aware of the importance of the Imperial Economic Conference as the residents of any other of the Dominions, have quite as vital interest in it, and are just as anxious to see that thing will be done there that will start the currents of trade flowing more rapidly, externally and internally.

Canada has rather a peculiar position in the other nations to estimate the real value of stimulating the movement of trade between country and country, whether by sea or by land, and the Dominion has been so experienced more than any of the others in recent years a reversal of trade conditions accompanied by, and in measure accounted for, by a vast trade policy.

Three years ago Canada was doing business with the world at large on a reverse, under a trade policy that encouraged the active exchange of products with other countries.

Two years ago, under influence of the tightening depression, the people of Canada sharply reversed their trade policy and installed a government whose platform called for the exclusion of foreign goods from the Canadian market.

What has happened since to business conditions in Canada needs no elaboration. To say that Mr. Bennett's tariff is responsible entirely for the slump that has followed the decision would be folly. But it had nothing to do with bringing about the decline would be to argue that it failed of its purpose.

The definite objective of the present tariff is to exclude the commodities of other countries, inside or outside the Empire. It was adopted and applied in a clear understanding that to shut out imports must prevent exports. The majority of the Canadian people decided to try the experiment, in hope that despite its foreseen disadvantages an exclusive tariff would help to restore the prosperity that had somewhat, but not entirely, slackened.

The hoped for result was not attained, but the disadvantages laid down themselves apparent. The Bennett tariff policy has succeeded in its first object, though not in its second. It has shut out foreign goods and goods from other parts of the Empire, more completely than they were ever excluded before. The benefits which the Dominion was supposed to follow this exclusion have not arrived and are not in prospect.

It will be clear to everyone, Mr. Bennett included, that if there is any hope of improving conditions in the immediate future it lies in a return to the policy of encouraging trade, not in continuing the policy of discouraging it. The Economic Conference offers an opportunity to make that shift in policy and to get valuable concessions in return.

The importance of making the most of that opportunity is emphasized by the known results which followed when Canada joined the other countries of the world in the modern game of creating prosperity at home by killing trade abroad.

A Mother in the Hospital

By Edgar A. Guest

On lay in the hospital, the doctor says you keep Forever fretting through the night when you should be Asleep.

They tell me it is rest you need and still you toss about.
They tell me it is sleep you need and still you toss about.
And will they keep an eye on him with so much danger now?
It's a little thing, mother dear, said she, "while I am lying here.

"And will they stanch his little shins and keep him clean
And neat?"

"And will they keep away from him the things he needs
And neat?"

"The doctors shake their heads at me and tell me I must rest.
But Sunday morning will they think I dream him in his Bed?"

"And do they know he mustn't have much sugar on his Things like that I fret about while lying here in bed."

"The doctors told me when they call because I haven't Eaten anything for three days."

"But have they found the little drawer where all his clothes Are kept?"

"And do they clean and sweep the rooms and shine the Floors?"

"And have they changed the linen on the beds as I would do?"

"The little nurse for men to say put every tea to rest,
But mothers have so many things at night to think about."

By Mary Blake

If July 22nd is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11:00 a.m. to 12:45 p.m., from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. and from 10 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:45 a.m. to 8 a.m. and from 2 p.m. to 2:45 p.m.

July 22nd will bring it in the sun, the stars, the troubles and anxieties. Differences—trivial, but exaggerated—between friends or relatives will lead to estrangements. On the other hand, a new interest will engage your attention, which will prove to be of a most profitable nature. Love will be put to the test and not found wanting.

Children born on this day will have realistic natures, and will be geared by nature to a high rate of speed. They will be self-entered, impatient and slightly selfish. They may be credited with little love of money and a high degree of intelligence. They will be too straightforward to be artful.

What else is much in your character that calls for admiration and respect. There is also much that invites criticism and merits disapproval. You are, undoubtedly, quick and alert, and possess the saving grace of a keen sense of humor. You will, however, be a little too hard on yourself. You let loose a barbed joke just because you think it smart. You do not think of the hurt it may cause.

You work in the fun and start. Consistency is a jewel that you do not possess. Your opinions, too, are as variable as the weather. You are also too impatient of the work of others and too quick to give voice to your own thoughts. On the other hand you are a staunch friend and ally, and if at times you strain the chain of your friendship to the point of breaking, you are not slow in making amends.

Married life will be for neither you or your partner "one long, sweet song," but the trouble caused by your desire to be right by repentance and your efforts at atonement.

INDIANS AND THE GAME LAWS

Editor: I am in the column of your paper an article concerning a court judgment whereby the Indians on the reserve are allowed to shoot any kind of game on any day of the year on government lands.

It is a big mistake for our leaders to allow such a thing, especially when our wild game is rapidly disappearing. It is a mistake to allow the government spending money to conserve our wild game and establishing parks for the protection of our game, and then to allow the Indians to shoot them at will.

In my opinion the Indians can easily destroy all the wild game of our forests in a very short time. It is no use to leave these people at liberty to destroy the efforts of our people to conserve our wild life. Take for instance the rabbits and partridges. These have been a great source of food for many years. If it were not for wild birds many would suffer hunger. In winter seasons many people would starve to death. There are things worth considering. The wild game must be conserved at all cost and make the Indians abide our game laws the same as the white man and then when game is scarce we have the life for furnishing us a living.

I predict a famine in this country some day when the Indians will be starving. As the game is being destroyed, the Indians will be starving. Sub-subsistence is disappearing, lands drying up, drought already in regions. It is high time the people wake up and realize that game is a gift from Providence and must be conserved.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: Mr. Hilda S. writes: "My doctor wants to put me under ether for a rupture operation, and under gas for the other. As it is the same kind of anesthesia should not be in all cases, even with patients who have no heart trouble?"

ANSWER: My heart never beats and I live four flights up. I would like to get rid of the rupture and the tooth, but I am afraid of the ether and the gas.

ANSWER: Why don't you ask your doctor about it? Many physicians prefer ether for certain operations, and sometimes gas or a local anesthetic for other kinds of operations. The experience has shown that the same kind of anesthesia should not be in all cases, even with patients who have no heart trouble. There are things worth considering. The wild game must be conserved at all cost and make the Indians abide our game laws the same as the white man and then when game is scarce we have the life for furnishing us a living.

It is sleeping or nursing, and the strange part of it is that the condition manifests only at the head. ANSWER: Most mothers dread their babies too hot, and that is generally the cause of the baby sweating. The baby will sweat if too many covers are used while she is sleeping, or if she wears the same clothes all day long. It is a good idea to change the clothes at night, and to use a light blanket. ## The Passing Show

A city councillor in the city of Beloit, Wisconsin, has threatened to start suit against a Congregational minister in his city, for the return of the dollar he put into the collection plate.

It appears that the pastor, after the collection was taken, preached a sermon in which he attacked the councillor, Mr. Brangan. Brangan felt that he had been taken for a ride and wanted his dollar back.

When a minister of the gospel pronounces himself the ambassador of God, he invades me into his church, whether by name or by deed. He is the ambassador of God in the local newspaper, to hear the word of God preached (which undoubtedly may need much more) and then delivers a personal opinion instead, which I have heard many times in the past and expect to hear many more times in the future, and won't cost me a cent either, I feel that he has obtained my money for nothing.

There will be a good deal of interest in the suit. The result may prove a serviceable precedent.

So far as I know, this is the first time a cash customer has sued a preacher for his money back.

There is a nugget in the collection in the fact that the collection usually proceeds from the pulpit. The legal doctrine of caveat emptor can help much, for one has no explicit representation of what the sermon will be like. Mark Twain tells a story of being at a missionary meeting and feeling so moved by the recital of the preacher at the great work being done in supplying red flannel petticoats to the dusky people, that he felt for the biggest bill he had in his wallet.

The preacher went on and on. As he lengthened his discourse Mark Twain replaced his pocket book and checked his watch. He was not alone in this. Many others were looking at their watches. Finally, as the man kept on preaching, he took up his hat and left the hall. This explains why "wise preachers" have the collection taken before the sermon.

No doubt the lawyers will have full opportunity to lay down principles and precedents. It is a pity that the law and I read several chapters of Judge Edward Abbott's "What the Judge Thinks." In one chapter he discusses the legal problem of the "caveat emptor" starting at the 19th century when the law of caveat emptor and a gold ball was treated as a fox or hare where no man could claim property therein after it had commenced its flight.

STRANGE STRIKE ENDS WHEN 20 SENT TO JAIL

Leaders of "Wrecking Crews" Rounded up in Southern States

HIGH POINT, N. C., July 22.—Twenty leaders of "wrecking crews" who closed down virtually every manufacturing plant in the North Carolina town Tuesday, are in jail today, with 100 more being slowly removed from one of the strongest strikes in the South.

From Greensboro and Winston-Salem fairly bulged with some of the ringleaders in the nearest approach to an industrial revolt since the Carolina has ever experienced.

While a bona fide strike of 4,000 heavy workers was at its height, the "wrecking crews" composed of a few hundred men, mostly with a sprinkling of strikers, marched from mill to mill shutting down the power and forcing the shutdown of more than 100 plants.

The temporary closure of between 8,000 and 10,000 operatives was the work of the "wrecking crews" who were armed with tear bombs, shotguns and machine guns and were taken control of factory after factory.

SLAYER OF WIFE DIES IN HOSPITAL

OLDS, Alt., July 22—David Gill, 24-year-old resident of Olds, died in hospital yesterday from a throat wound shortly after he had confessed to the murder of his wife.

Gill said he cut his 25-year-old wife's throat with a butcher knife and then slashed his own because of financial worries.

A sister of the slain woman discovered the body of Mrs. Gill lying on a bed beside her wounded husband in their home on Sunday, July 17. The doors of the house had been locked and the sister was compelled to force her way in. An operation was performed in an effort to save Gill's life, but he succumbed to the self-inflicted wound. His wife had died instantly.

BREWERIES WILL SPEND MILLIONS

WASHINGTON, July 22—Re-opening of American breweries on the scale at which they operated in 1914 would give employment to 127,215 persons with combined salaries of more than $40,000,000 a year, it was revealed at the census bureau here.

Records in the bureau show there were 1,550 breweries in the country in 1914. They had 4,082 salaried officers, 61,079 clerks and 61,063 other employees.

The combined salaries of the officers were $13,443,875, of the clerks $11,557,821, and of other wage-workers $3,242,743.

Three breweries paid $75,010,875 in taxes, $119,254,375 for materials and $10,470,818 for fuel.

BIG ENTRY LIST FOR NET FINAL

500 Prominent Stars Seek Canadian Title

OTTAWA, July 22—More than 500 racket widders, including stars of the game from Canada, the United States, and Bermuda, will battle for the Canadian lawn tennis championship on the courts of the Rideau Tennis club for a week, starting Saturday.

More than 125 of the players are from points outside the Ottawa district, making the championship competition the most representative in its history.

George Lott, Jr., of Chicago, second ranking in U. S. star, leads the American invasion with Frankie Parker, 16-year-old Milwaukee player, another brilliant entrant from across the line.

Helen Fulton, Chicago, Esther Barthol, Grand Rapids, Mich., and Louise Hofmeister, Chicago, are outstanding U. S. entrants in the women's event.

Three Canadian Davis cup players, Marcel Rivestville, Montreal, Gilbert Runna, Toronto, and Walter Martin, Regina, lead the Canadian men's entered, other outstanding Canadian players entered is T. O. Byrd, Vancouver, who arrived here yesterday and worked out.

Clive Wade, Toronto, and Marjorie Leaning, Vancouver, are native stars favored to capture the women's singles event. Stan Adie, Burrill, Toronto, and Mrs. John Patrick, Montreal, recently crowned Quebec ladies' singles are also Canadiana counted on to regulate the United States invasion.

Gladys Hutchings, of Bermuda, also will be a factor in this branch of the championship tourney.

He applauded a double play engineered by the Yankees before the Babe could get a chance to explain, did the same for Frank Crosetti's home run in the park and admitted there was more map and dash to baseball than to cricket. But he couldn't understand why everyone stood up and stretched in the seventh inning.

"What's all this about?" he asked the Babe.

"Just an old custom that takes place of tea," the Babe said, offering the Bradman a bottle of pop and a hot dog.

COLORED MAN DROWNED
CAPEBOLT, Ont., July 22—Bathhouse in the Vermilion river here last night, Vincent Hawkins, 34, colored, of 1022 Main Street, Windsor, was drowned. John Rogers, 1111 Sixth avenue south, Leithbridge, Alta., who was with him at the time, was unable to reach him as he sank. Rogers said he had met Hawkins while riding a freight train the day before.

BRADMAN LIKES DIAMOND GAME

Cricket Luminary is Guest of Babe Ruth

NEW YORK, July 22—Don Bradman, champion cricket batsman of Australia, attended a ball game at Yankee Stadium on the guest of the injured Babe Ruth and understood everything about the game except one thing.

He applauded a double play engineered by the Yankees before the Babe could get a chance to explain, did the same for Frank Crosetti's home run in the park and admitted there was more map and dash to baseball than to cricket. But he couldn't understand why everyone stood up and stretched in the seventh inning.

CRIPPLES WIN FOR CORSAIRS

Traynor and Lloyd Warner Hobble Into Spotlight

PITTSBURGH, July 22—Captain "Pete" Traynor, and Lloyd Warner, two of the Pirates' "cripples" returned to the Pittsburgh lineup yesterday and celebrated the event by getting together in the ninth inning to score the run that beat the Phillies, 3 to 2.

The victory was Pittsburgh's second in the five games series and enabled the Pirates to increase their National League lead to 2½ games over the rival Braves.

The struggle was Pittsburgh's second in the last half of the ninth, then Traynor, who played the full game after an absence of two weeks because of an injured finger, broke the spell with a single. The younger of the Warner brothers, taking his only time at bat, managed a double into left center to bring home the winning run.

Up to the seventh the game was a magnificent pitching duel between Henry Kremer and Jim Elliott.

OUT-RUNS GREAT FIELD TO TAKE FEATURE EVENT

Brilliant Display of Baseball Seen as South Siders Down Kingmen by 2-0 Score—Both Teams in Great Form

By BILL LEWIS

A sensational three-hit pitching performance by slim "Buck" Eaton carried Henry Loyer's South Arctics to a thrilling 2-0 triumph over Webb King's Royals at Diamond Park last night in the fourth game of the Senior Amateur Baseball League's championship playoff and the win ended the series for league honors in a previous series.

The game that saw the Arctics draw up even with the Royals in the fight for the championship proved the most spectacular baseball display of the season locally and kept a huge throng of fans intensely interested from the first until the last was retired in the ninth frame.

It had everything that goes to make a real ball game and the big crowd showed its appreciation by not making a move for the exits until the game was all over.

ALMOST UNDEATABLE

BRAND OF BUILDING

Outstanding feature of the titanic struggle of the two clubs was the sensational pitching of the wintry right-hander, Eaton.

Coming right back at the Royals after being beaten twice at a great performance in a previous series game, Eaton twisted a brand of baseball that hardly could have been believed and he made them believe it for the Loyermen by his great work.

He let the red-headed Royals down with three hits and two came one per inning in the last three innings of the contest and none of them caused any damage.

For six full frames not a man on the King-bats could be able to get to him for a single and his mates and South Side supporters were pulling strong for him.

The route without giving up a hit, but the spell was broken when Loyer, first man up in the seventh, got a blow and William and Lee followed with hits in the succeeding frames.

LEONARD LEI GOOD

Leonard Lei, right-handed pitcher and all-around star of the Royals was locked in a fine pitching duel with Eaton for the full nine frames and would have been anything but the sensational work of Eaton, were he not his best form of the season.

He pitched nine hits but he kept them so well spaced through the nine-frame distance that the South Siders were only able to get the earned run from his offerings and outside of the two innings in which the winners scored, he was never in danger.

Steve Fenton and George Greco were the big hitters of the Royals for Arctics, each getting a pair of hits during the four times at the plate. Fenton included a pair of home runs in his pair.

After two scoreless innings, South Siders forged into a one-run lead in the third. Brown, first up in the fourth, scored on a home run. Chubb, who was hit in the fifth, scored on a home run. Fenton, who was hit in the sixth, scored on a home run.

By the time the game was over, the Royals had scored four runs and the Arctics had scored two runs. The game was a close one, but the Royals were the winners.

U.S. Captures Three Championships On Opening Day Canadian Henley

CANUCKS GET SINGLE TITLE ON FIRST DAY

Junior Tackweight Four of Toronto Don Wins Crown

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. July 12.—Of four Canadian rowing championships decided on the opening day of the 1932 Henley regatta only was captured by a Canadian. This distinction fell to a junior tackweight four of the Don Rowing club, Toronto, who won the Junior 14 pound four-oared event in the other events decided United States took in their own class. After being definitely beaten and finishing last in their own class, the Canadian title-winning Don quartet still into the heavier class to prevent a Toronto Argonauts four from winning by default. Don showed remarkable form and romped home first time seasoned rowers.

WIN JUNIOR FOURS

Buffalo Westsiders successfully defended the Junior Fours crown they won last year and also captured the trophy for 14-pound Junior Fours.

Another final to go in a limited time was the 14-pound Junior Fours. Another, whose representative in the quarter-final match, W. H. Burdett, Jr., provided a surprise by defeating Joe Wright, Jr., representative of the Toronto Argonauts. The time of one minute, 14 seconds was believed a new world record.

HAS NO EXCUSES

The Toronto quartet started as usual and had a full berth's margin in the first heat. In the first few heats, the Toronto quartet, in the course of the race, pulled in front, in the last stroke and cut down the time of the race.

Leap Year Bride

By Laura Lee Brookes

BEHOLD HERE TODAY
CHERRY DIXON, pretty, fragrant daughter of wealthy parents, after a career with the press, is a Leap Year maiden and Cherry does the proposing. She and Dan meet in a cheap apartment. Cherry is a disappointment to her parents, who are disappointed in her. Cherry is a disappointment to her parents, who are disappointed in her. Cherry is a disappointment to her parents, who are disappointed in her.

CHAPTER XI
CHERRY slipped the pie into the oven, closed the door and straightened up with a sigh. Her head ached and her arms ached. She knew she should not have taken on so much on cleaning day but the apples would have spoiled if she had not used them. Apple pie was Dan's favorite dessert.

She looked at the clock and saw that it was almost 6. Time to set the table. Cherry was wearing her oldest house dress. It was faded and worn with dust but she did not think of that. Her hair was hidden beneath a towel pinned on for a dust cap and there were black smudges on her cheeks. From door to ceiling the apartment was in a state of confusion. Cherry had never been less presentable.

Cherry opened the garage table and spread out the cloth. Usually she took pains to make the table attractive, but tonight, dust and silver went on carelessly. She was back in the kitchen stirring the stew from last night's beef roast when Dan's head appeared in the doorway. "Cherry, did you turn the oven off?" "Yes, that you, Dan."

"What?" "The oven." "Cherry looked up in surprise. "Why—? I guess I forgot to turn the oven off. I was so busy cleaning house. Everything's done except the bathroom. Will you wash it for me, Dan?" "I wish I could," Dan said. "The young man frowned. "Can't I wash it for you?" "I promised mother I'd have this work done tonight. If you don't want to do it say so and I'll finish it after awhile. I didn't think you'd mind doing that. I'll be scrubbed and shaved until I can hardly stand."

"It was unusual for Cherry to complain but tonight she was really tired. She had tried to crowd too much into one single day and every muscle in her body seemed to protest. "Oh—all right!" Dan grumbled. "I'll do it."

He filled up his sleeves and Cherry pressed an apron about him. She gave him the cleaning powder, a basin of water and clean dishes. Dan disappeared and Cherry went on with preparations for the meal. "Have you finished yet, Dan?" she asked.

"He was rubbing the window pane laboriously. Cherry stepped forward. "Up there," she pointed. "There's a streak in the pane. Dan's exclamation was smothered.

"Don't let that window pane run away," exclaimed the owner. "He'll just play, if you let him run away at first as he can be. He loves to kick his heels up here. We'll watch him, as you see him. If you're a real rough rider, it will be a sight to see. "Oh, I'll do my very best," said Dan. "Then all I ask you to do is to have a little ride. I don't think I'll ride long. "The horse I have had before."

but now I don't know what to do now. Please come right up to my room. I'll be waiting for you. "You bet we will, but see if you can stay on tight. It's hard to do on a horse. "Then all I ask you to do is to have a little ride. I don't think I'll ride long. "The horse I have had before."

Milady Beautiful

BY LOIS LEEDS

I AM sometimes asked if there really is a cure for dandruff or whether this unpleasant condition must be accepted by its victims just as the weather is. One of the main reasons why dandruff remedies so often fail to cure dandruff is because those who use them keep on applying them to the scalp by using brushes, combs and other articles which are used frequently. But things also may carry germ of dandruff. It is useless to attempt to wash dandruff unless one is willing to be thorough in all details of the treatment. Use a liquid shampoo soap. First, moisten your hair.

General physical fitness, too, must be recognized, as one's skin, including the scalp, cannot be healthy when the system is in poor condition. The hair very quickly responds to a change in the blood. If you have a dandruff problem, it is well to have a check-up by a doctor.
